Cortina d'Ampezzo...is a world-famous winter resort that rivals any other in the Alps. Magnificently situated in a sunny amphitheater, it is ringed by spectacular peaks which rise nearly 2000 meters above the village. Cortina has offered a complete range of winter sports facilities since hosting the Olympic Games in 1956. In Cortina, life centers around the Corso, a traffic-less, shop-lined street where the late afternoon passeggiata proceeds without fail. You can browse and see the latest winter fashions, as well as purchase a gift from one of the many antique and craft shops. At the heart of the Corso is a central piazza, and a church with a towering campanile (adjacent to hotel). Excursions to Venice, Plan de Coranes/Brunico and Pieve di Cadare are available locally. At night, enjoy one of Cortina's exclusive night clubs.

Rome.....Throughout much of its long, noble history Rome was a city-state unto itself, developing and basking in its own grandeur and uniqueness. Built on seven hills, halfway between the country's fertile, industrious north and balmy, Mediterranean south, Rome has been at the center of Italy's empire building as well as her inspiring cultural and artistic expressions. The ancient Romans bequeathed such famous monuments as the Colosseum, Forum, Circus Maximus, Pantheon, Baths of Caracalla and Catacombs. When in Rome, we suggest doing as the Romans . . . strolling the Spanish Steps and along the shops and cafe culture of the Via Condotti and Via Veneto or simply tossing a coin into the Trevi Fountain. From a seemingly infinite number of casual city spots, from cafes to street corners, Romans and visitors alike leisurely view the colorful lifestyle of their beloved city, as it plays out on a backdrop layered by centuries.

The Vatican, one of the most sacred places in Christendom, attests to a great history. A unique collection of artistic and architectural masterpieces lie within the boundaries of this small state. At its center is St. Peter's Basilica, with its double colonnade and circular piazza.
