About Mont Tremblant and the Village:

Mont Tremblant is a world class ski resort and general tourism destination. It is located in the province of Quebec, Canada, approximately 85 miles north of Montreal.

The name "Mont Tremblant" comes from the Native American populations that originally lived on these lands. "Tremblant," French for "trembling," was the name they used for the mountain we now ski down, because the native populations once believed there was a great deity who lived inside the mountain, causing it to tremble when he was upset.

Mont Tremblant started becoming popular as a ski destination in the 60's. The 70's and 80's saw more and more people coming up north. The Intrawest Tremblant resort, the colorful pedestrian village we know and love, was built in 1991. The casino opened in 2009 featuring all your favorite games & slots. The vibrant village boasts over 50 restaurants and bars. Alpine Skiing not your thing? Try snowmobiling, tubing, sleigh rides, ice fishing, dogsledding, ice skating, snowshoeing, and cross country skiing.
